A SUCCESSFUL INSTITUTE

BIG ATTENDANCE AT ALL DAY SESSIONS.

Overflow Session on Thanksgiving Day—Good Instructors Who Won Their Hearers.

Thursday 9.30 A. M.

Institute opened with music led by Prof. March and devotional exercises by Rev. D. W. Woods of the Presbyterian Church. Reading of the 103rd Psalm and prayer. Music followed.

Re-Construction Period.

Dr. Fess said President Lincoln always expected to be asked to explain and settle the re-construction of the States but never expected it to be a success, because of the opposition in the House and Senate. This matter would and could have been settled without any difficulty had it not been for the radicalism that existed in the country at this time. Johnson hated the aristocracy, but it was believed he favored slavery and secession. Johnson inaugurated as President April 14 and Congress not in session until the 1st of December there were nine months for work. Thaddeus Stevens, leader of the House, and Charles Sumner, the leader of the Senate, went to work for the re-construction of the Union. Two factions became involved in a bitter fight, the legislative faction and the executive faction. Thaddeus Stevens was coming to Congress with bills from twelve states that had no representation and this aroused the ire of President Johnson. One side offered three propositions, the other four different ones. The greatest question causing more trouble than all others was to rescind the Ordinance of Secession. Congress immediately passed the Freedmen's Bureau Bill and Johnson vetoed it and it is passed over his head. The same with the Civil Rights bill. Every state in the south rejects the 14th amendment to the Constitution. Then followed the "Tenure of Office Bill," which was vetoed by Johnson and was passed over his head. Music.

Address of Dr. Hefelbower.

Dr. S. G. Hefelbower, President of Pennsylvania College, addressed the Institute saying in part that we were here in one common cause. He compared the public schools with patriotism. Washington said that we would in after years look back to the Fourth of July when we would be free and independent in the right sense. We must recognize that this land of ours is one of liberty. It is ours to defend. In the age of commercialism men of the almighty dollar regard this to be not the land of liberty, but the land of cash. They forget that this land was bought at the price of many human lives. Be not neglectful of instilling the proper ideas of patriotism. Liberty was blood-bought and is worth blood. The time will come when none will be for the party and all for the state. Let us be faithful to the standard set before us. Music.

"Study of a Masterpiece."

Dr. Pattengill said teach children to study good literature. Give the child the poem and the idea of its beauty. Let the children use their own judgment and give their explanation first and you make the decision. Avoid the mechanical tone and measure in reading. Get the pupils to point the life pictures in the work. The speaker confined his talk to the beautiful picture lessons drawn by John G. Whit-tier.

Thursday 2 P. M.

There was the usual rush and scramble for admittance to the Hall. Pleasant and happy faces told of good dinners. The Hall was more than filled, every available space being taken up for room. Institute opened with music.

"Made in America."

Dr. Pattengill said the English people scoff at anything made in America. More than 1-2 of things used in the world is made in America, as also 1-2 of steel and 1-2 of the iron. It is the application of machinery that counts. There has been marvelous development in progress, marvelous development in wealth. We have a right to be proud of our country on account of its wealth. America right or wrong. If wrong right her.

The boys and girls should be taught literature and that should be American literature. Manhood and womanhood is developed here. We seek to educate the masses. Boys and girls here go through the colleges, they give a chance for a higher education. We taught England how to treat her colonies and gave her the first kindergarten lesson in caring for her people. England does not know America, we should glory in America's strength and powers.

Where is the nation that has the most civil and religious liberty. We have reason to be proud of America for her record in the past. The speaker closed with a glorious tribute to the flag, and audience joined in singing "America."

Character Sketch—Hayne.

Dr. Fess got away from the subject and told a few incidents to put his audience in a good humor. His address was a character sketch of our representatives who fought the issues of our country. He pictured the great speech of Senator Webster in Congress in 1830 on the issue against Senator Hayne, dwelling particularly on the attitude of Senator Webster in this great speech.

Thursday 8 P. M.

The fine singing of Whitney Bros. and the good impersonations of E. M. Whitney delighted a large audience, proving to be one of the best entertainments of the week.

Friday, 9.30 A. M.

There was an opening song led by Prof. March. Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. W. W. Hartman of the Methodist church. He read the 28th chapter of Job, followed with prayer. Prof. March then had a lengthy period of music.

Current History

Was well handled by Dr. Fess. He gave a brief account of the superstitions and mythical ideas that people have in doing certain work and at certain times. Such people he said dare not be contradicted or they will at once be offended. They have implicit faith in their predictions. He cited the powers between good and evil. There is difference between myth and legend. Before you teach a masterpiece you must know history. In connection with this the speaker described "The Last Supper." A nagging teacher can not succeed. Such a one is not in unison to do anything good. You must be in sympathy or you cannot accomplish what you set out to do. The speaker concluded his address by quoting from "The Leper's Vision," the lesson being that often we do not see the beauty of literature. We are all trying to do something at a distance, when the greatest work and beauty is at our side. Music by Prof. March.

Address by Dr. Barton.

Dr. J. M. Barton of the Shippensburg State Normal School spoke to the teachers on the undeveloped part of North-western United States. He spoke at length upon the features, soil area, scenery, and the advantages to be derived from its development. In this connection he gave a description of the Lewis and Clark Exposition this year. He told of the first government west of the Rockies to be established. This was the government that was known as the Hudson Bay Company, England and the United States. The state of Washington now is as large as all New England. The state of Oregon is as large as Pennsylvania New York and New Jersey. Immigration has done a great deal to develop this country. Farms have been laid out into 5 and 10 acres each and the people turned to the raising of fruits, apples predominating. Over $5,000,000 of silver has been taken out of the section and very little of the territory opened up. The opportunity for manufacture is very auspicious. The inhabitants are not engrossed in manufacture, their time being engrossed in other pursuits. Teachers are needed in this section and are paid well for their work. Music.

Manana—Land of Tomorrow.

Dr. Pattengill opened this subject by saying Columbus sailing to America steered the prow of his vessel south of where he expected to land and gave this designation to the islands of Caribbean Sea and South America. Cuba belonged to Spanish civilization and lies in the land of tomorrow, but will get away from that in a very short time. In this connection came a description of Cuba. Moro Castle is a type of old Granada Castilian Spain. Havana was described as a most beautiful city and immaculate clean. Streets are so very narrow that carriages go up one street and go down the other. No window glass in their windows, iron bars at the windows at night. Flies are unknown. Most of the outside houses are but one story high. No stoves are used, simply charcoal. People are jolly, genial and pleasant. Sundays in Lent are spent in jollity, it is then that the people go right into the sense of the thing. Masquerades are main thing. No finer teams are seen in any part of the United States than are seen in Havana. A little temple is erected where the remains of Columbus were supposed to rest at one time. The business men of Cuba are anxious to have America to look after them. Politicians are not anxious. The most revolting thing to be seen in Havana is the burial of the dead. Sugar in Cuba can be put in New Orleans at one cent a pound.

Friday 2.30 P. M.

Interest was not lacking in the "Home Stretch" of the Institute. Music by Prof. March, 10 minutes being devoted to the period.

Dr. Fess' Closing Address.

Dr. Fess took up study of pictures of individuals and things illustrating his talk with incidents coming under his observation. He spoke of the fascination in music and how beautiful it had been this week. He knew it would be productive of much good, the pupils will be the gainers. He drew several pictures of the influence of music. Henry Ward Beecher's power over his audience was portrayed. He appealed to teachers never to forget the sense of honor in the boys and girls. He hoped to see the time when everyone is on the same level with each other. It is man and not what he has. This is the lesson we must learn and we get the inspiration from the school room. Music.

"Inspire or Expire."

Was closing address of Dr. Pattengill. He told teachers who have no inspiration to get out of the business. You must have the power of inspiration in you, or you have no oil for the lamp of thought. Inspire the children to read something. Read good books, have a library in the school. Inspire boys to be true, gentle, active and useful men. You cannot estimate the value of a good teacher. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

Prof. Roth closed the institute with a few remarks to the teachers. Music by Institute, led by Prof. March.

A LITTLESTOWN WEDDING

REV. JOHN J. HILL CALLED TO ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH

Father of Littlestown Lady Dies From Gun Shot Wound—

Building Operations.

Littlestown, Dec. 4th.—Miss Julia B. Foreman, youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. K. Foreman and John E. Hornberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hornberger, both of this place were married at noon last Wednesday at St. Aloysius parochial residence this place, by Rev. Father Kohl. Only the members of the contracting parties, a few personal friends and the brides music class witnessed the ceremony. Miss Nan Rolph of Baltimore was maid of honor and William Hornberger brother of the groom, best man, Geo. W. Foreman, brother of the bride gave her away. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride at which a large number of friends and relatives were present. The bride wore a cream net gown over taffeta silk with girdle of ribbon. The groom wore the conventional black suit with white vest. Mr. and Mrs. Hornberger left on the 4.15 train for Washington and other points. On their return they will reside with the brides parents Dr. and Mrs. E. K. Foreman. The presents to the bride were handsome and valuable.

Saturday noon Mrs. Clayton Ickes, of this place received a telegram stating that her father Mr. Van Horn, of Washington, D. C., was dead. Mr. and Mrs. Ickes left on the 4.15 p. m. train for that city. Death was caused by a gun shot wound inflicted by his son while they were duck hunting.

Rev. Dr. Billheimer of Gettysburg preached two excellent sermons in St. Paul's Lutheran Church Sunday. After the morning service a congregational meeting was held for the election of a pastor and Rev. J. J. Hill of Roaring Spring was unanimously elected. A call will at once be extended to Rev. Hill and it is hoped that he will accept.

Alfred Staley has bought the Geo. D. Basheor property on Cemetery avenue, formerly owned by Mrs. Fox, and will move there next spring.

Josiah Hahn moved from Germany township to the Geo. F. Krug property on Cemetery avenue vacated by Fred. Shney, who is now occupying his new house recently erected on same street.

Arar on Wehler is erecting a stable on his property on North Queen street.

John Unger is converting the building formerly used as an implement house, into a double dwelling by remodeling same and the erection of a back building addition.

Irvin Wehner moved his family from the Geo. F. Duttera property on South Queen street to York, and Harry Flickinger moved from the Boyer property to the house vacated by Mr. Wehner.

The union Thanksgiving services in St. Paul's Lutheran Church last Thursday evening were well attended. Revs. Smith, Krebs and Bastian were present. Dr. Krebs preached the sermon proving that the people of Littlestown and vicinity have very much to be thankful for.

Rural Mail Boxes.

It is to be regretted that 150 patrons of the rural mail service from the Gettysburg Post Office have not complied with the orders sent out on Oct. 1, by the 4th Assistant Postmaster, giving 60 days in which to comply with the order requiring the erection of approved mail boxes. The orders further set out that if boxes are not up within specified time that mail matter would be held at the post office.

This order affected about 300 families and one-half have complied with the orders, but with time up 150 have not done anything toward complying with same. There seems a mistake in idea prevalent that some box maker is being favored by these orders, but the idea is ridiculous. There are several hundred different makes of boxes which have been approved. The government is anxious to have boxes which will adequately protect mail matter.

The situation is an embarrassing one to the Postmaster of this place. He has no option in matter and must comply with orders of department to withhold all mail from unapproved boxes after Dec. 6. Orders of department at Washington must be carried out or he will be held to answer. Postmaster McIlhenney supplemented the notice of Oct. 6 with a notice of his own on Dec. 1, as he desires to avoid the trouble which will ensue for the patrons by holding the mail from the boxes according to his orders from Washington.

The post office patrons living in town have quarterly box rent to pay for the privilege of going after their mails, while the rural patron with one original out lay of a box, has no other expense and is ahead of his town brother.

The Y. W. C. F. I. will meet with Miss Eva Danner, Thursday evening, 8.30 promptly.

Salem U. B. Church Dedicated.

The Salem United Brethren church was dedicated on Sunday morning with appropriate services. The beautiful day brought out a large attendance, taxing the new church to the limit to accommodate.

The present edifice is in reality the third building on the present site. The first one was built in 1876, the second one in 1888 and the present one was begun in 1904 and recently finished.

It is a beautiful church and beyond question the finest country church in the U. B. conference. It has beautiful memorial windows of stained glass. The interior is divided into two audience chambers for church and for Sunday School, but so arranged as to be thrown together. The building is thoroughly modern, being well heated and lighted with acetylene gas.

The present structure cost about $3000. When the dedication services began all but $200 of cost had been raised and $400 of this included the cost of organ. Contributions on Sunday practically wiped out this balance.

The services were in charge of Bishop J. S. Mills and Chas. E. Snook, pastor. The sermon by Bishop Mills was from 1 Corinthians 12 Chapter 27 verse "Now ye are the body of Christ and members in particular." The sermon was an able and scholarly one and held the close attention of the congregation.

An order was granted to sell real estate of Peter Baker, late of Hamilton township, consisting of two tracts, the home farm of 135 acres and a 50 acre tract.

Thanksgiving Services.

Tomorrow, Thursday, morning at 6.15 o'clock a sunrise Thanksgiving service will be held by all of the Christian Endeavor Societies of Gettysburg in the lecture room of College Church. The meeting will open promptly at 6.15 and be closed by 7.30 o'clock. The guiding thought for the meeting is "Why I Am Thankful." While the service will be in charge of the College Church Society all Endeavorers and all others are most cordially invited to attend and participate in the services.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held in Trinity Reformed Church, Gettysburg at 10 a. m. Rev. W. W. Hartman will preach the sermon.

Dislocated Hip.

William Small of Edgegrove was in Gettysburg on last Wednesday and in the early part of the afternoon crossed Baltimore street from Plymire's to Skelly & Warner's corner. He has an artificial leg and walks without a cane. He stumbled at the latter corner and fell to pavement. Several parties helped him to his feet and he propped himself against the telephone pole. A chair was brought and he was assisted to it. Dr. A. C. Rice of McSherrystown happened to be on street within a short distance and was hailed. He discovered that hip of man was dislocated. A bus was sent for and Dr. Rice took him to Hotel Gettysburg where he attended to his injury and later he was taken to his home.

Great Bargains IN CLOTHING

It stands to reason that we must be able to do better for you than any other store, else why would we be doing more clothing business than any other three stores put together?

And why shouldn't we be in a position to do more for you than anyone else when all the clothes we sell are made in our own factor at Baltimore and we consequently have no middle-man's profit to pay—something that every other store has to do?

The saving of this profit represents the difference between our prices and theirs—just about 25 to 30 per cent. And besides the saving, you get clothes as stylish and as satisfactory as any that can be made.

Is there any plausible reason why any man should buy his clothes outside of Davis & Co. Think it over.

PARALYSED IN BARBER CHAIR

East Berlin, Nov. 17.—Horse dealer A. A. Gruver of near town had a paralytic stroke while seated in barber chair of Mr. Himes of this place on Saturday. Mr. Himes had finished cutting his hair and was going to shave him when he noticed a change in the countenance of Mr. Gruver. Mr. Himes asked what is wrong. Mr. Gruver said give me air. Mr. Elliott was in the shop and he helped Mr. Himes to carry Mr. Gruver out on the porch. Dr. F. C. Wolf was sent for and arrived in a few moments and prescribed some medicine. He was moved to his home shortly afterwards. He was unable to talk when he reached home. Yesterday he was better and could talk. His left side is paralysed. The doctor is very hopeful of his recovery.

S. O. Miller of Thomasville, York county, had a paralytic stroke last week and is lying unconscious, being unable to talk, taking no nourishment and his condition is very serious. He is the oldest son of the late Samuel B. Miller of Reading township.

Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Eisenhart and Mrs. Bubb arrived home last Saturday evening from the ten days trip, having traveled through four different states, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland. They were in Philadelphia, Camden, Chester, Wilmington and Baltimore and returned well pleased with their trip.

M. M. Bowser arrived home last week from Chicago with buggies and sleighs.

Mr. Gise received a car load of sleighs last week, 25 in number and has sold six already.

TORTURE AND HUMILIATION

For Fifteen Years Face and Body
Mass of Itching Sores— Could Not Express Suffering— Doctors
Failed— Had Lost Hope

CURED BY CUTICURA
AT COST OF $1.25

"My head was one mass of scabs, my forehead was covered down almost to my eyebrows, and I had to wear my hat all the time. My body was covered with spots in size from a pin-head to as large as a silver dollar. A white, crusty scab would form and itch, and words cannot express the torture and humiliation I suffered for fifteen years. I tried many doctors, and all kinds of treatments, but could get no help, and I thought there was no hope for me. A friend told me to get Cuticura. I did, and in three days my head was as clear as ever. I applied the Ointment night and morning, also taking a hot bath three times a week, and using the Ointment freely after the bath. After using one cake of Soap and two boxes of Ointment I was completely cured, without mark or blemish. I was so pleased I felt like running down the street to tell every one I met what Cuticura had done for me. If any one is in doubt about this, they may write to me. (signed) H. B. Toys and the Imagination.

Since this is the season of toy giving, the following remarks of Dr. Grace Peckham Murray, from the December "Helix," have a special interest. "The tendency of the present time is to overload children with toys. Far from being a help to a child, this deprives him. He should not have a surfeit of any of his senses. Toys can be made the means of great development. They should be such as will aid the imagination and stimulate the inventive faculty. The imagination of the child is his most precious faculty. I cannot lament with a recent writer the mental activity of the child of to-day, who would rather have a piece of machinery or any electrical toy that he can pull to pieces and put together again than old-fashioned playthings. Rather one should rejoice that the brain activity of children expands itself on that which is useful. I have seen a boy's eyes sparkle with enjoyment and intelligent interest when at ten years of age, he was working over an electric battery. His mind was grasping the mysteries of physics with a sureness that would have done credit to an older mind. The point is: arouse the children's minds and imaginations through their games, their toys, to an interest in that which will be useful to them all their lives. Then there will not be need of so much cramming at school."

What a Stenographer can do.

"The possibilities of Stenography," is the title of an inspiring article for girls in the "New Idea Woman's Magazine" for December. The writer speaks of this work as being "splendidly elastic," holding out a prospect to young girls, and to girls not so young, of mounting step by step from junior positions to secretarieships, managerships, editorships, and the higher professions. She tells of the young women whose stenography has taken them travelling to the four quarters of the globe or "riding through college on a typewriter." "A knowledge of stenography," she says, in closing, "stands to a girl somewhat as a well-invested sum of money does to the investor. She can use the interest at any time to help her over a difficult situation. When she needs a few dollars extra, she can draw on it, even after the necessity of earning her daily bread as a stenographer has been eliminated. In short, if there is any one calling to-day followed by women that offers as many chances for getting along as does stenography, close thinking on the subject for several days has failed to discover it."

Financial Juggernaut.

An eloquent picture of the victims of financial disasters is given by Mr. Lawson in the December installment of "Frenzied Finance," in "Everybody's Magazine." He says: "Those who ride to fortune on the Financial Juggernaut never look back over the maimed and bleeding bodies that strew its cruel course. Ahead are new victims waiting to throw themselves beneath the never-pausing wheels. After a massacre Wall Street's corpses are cast into the river and sand is strewn to conceal the blood-stains. The injured sink into holes and nurse their wounds in secret. Wall Street never publishes lists of its dead and wounded. Regrets, in its philosophy, are as futile as burned matches. Besides, such details discourage speculation. Let the band play, whoever is hurt. Who cares for yesterday when to-morrow's ahead! Of all aspects of frenzied finance, this brute insensibility to failure and collapse, this greed for the new victims, is the worst. It was only a few days till the old Juggernaut, after the crash of May 9th, resumed its interrupted death course along the dollar highway, and the sun shone and the birds sang and the fools prostrated themselves in the dust before its conquering wheels, just as though the North River were not at that very moment glutted with its victims."

THE DANGER TO THE CHILD

May be real or the snare may be a harmless one, but there is danger that no mother every child's life if the mother is deficient in womanly health and functional ability.

Thousands of women have borne their sufferings and kept their troubles to themselves from motives of decency and feeble childhood has paid for it.

Dr. Pierce, forty years ago, consulted Nature, and found that she had provided remedies in abundance for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments and weaknesses. He found that non-scientific, glyceric extracts of Golden Seal root, Blue Cohosh root, Tincture of Black Cohosh root and Lactogen, when combined in just the right proportions, gave such surprising results that this compound soon became a standard favorite of his in the treatment of such cases. In a little time the demand for it became so great that he determined to put it up and provide for its general sale so that the multitudes needing it could regularly supply themselves.

This is now known all over the civilized world as Dr. Pierce's Female Preservative, and its unparalleled record of hundreds of thousands of cures, in the last forty years, justifies all that can be said of it.

It is non-poisonous, non-narcotic, it is safe and reliable for any woman of any age and in any condition to use.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—only one or two a day will regulate and cleanse and invigorate a feeble Stomach, torpid Liver, or sluggish Bowels.

THE above picture of the man and fish is the trademark of Scott's Emulsion, and is the synonym for strength and purity. It is sold in almost all the civilized countries of the globe.

If the cod fish became extinct it would be a world-wide calamity, because the oil that comes from its liver surpasses all other fats in nourishing and life-giving properties. Thirty years ago the proprietors of Scott's Emulsion found a way of preparing cod liver oil so that everyone can take it and get the full value of the oil without the objectionable taste. Scott's Emulsion is the best thing in the world for weak, backward children, thin, delicate people, and all conditions of wasting and lost strength.

THE FRIGATE BIRD.

It Has the Greatest Wing Power of Any Flying Animal.

It has been demonstrated that the wing area of different flying creatures varies from about forty-nine square feet per pound of weight in the quail and five square feet in the swallow to half a square foot per pound of weight in the Australian crane. The frigate bird has the most wonderful wing power of any of the flying animals, being able to cut the air at the rate of 100 miles an hour and live continually on the wing day and night for a week or ten days. Ornithologists of note even give it as their opinion that a healthy individual of this species would be equal to the task of making a trip around the world without once closing its wings in rest. It is also claimed that some species can remain motionless in the air for hours without flapping their wings. That they can exert three times the horsepower per pound of weight that a man can and about the same amount more than a horse. It is, without question, a fact that birds in general can exert physical energy that is without parallel in nature. It is generally supposed that birds are lighter, bulk for bulk, than other animals, but repeated experiments have proved that there are no grounds upon which to base such an opinion.

HOSPITABLE FOLKS.

One Never Beholds a Small Dining Table in Brazil.

The Brazilians are a most hospitable people. Although they have large families, they take in all their stray, unfortunate relatives. It is not unusual to find households of twenty-four persons or more. Oftentimes the host and hostess have no children, and the family is made up of sisters and cousins and relatives-in-law. One never sees a small dining table in Brazil. It is always a very long board in a very large room. When it is not to be all occupied the cloth is spread only at one end. No effort is made at artistic effects. Rigid rules for table deportment are not observed. You will not gain the frowning countenance of your hostess if you splash her table linen with wine. If she notices it at all she will think good naturedly that these things cannot be helped.

Bread comes by the yard to eat with coffee in the morning. The midday breakfast is begun with salad and ends with guayaba jelly, cheese and a delicious little cup of black coffee.

Dinner is a repetition of breakfast in dishes and in order of serving, excepting that soup is substituted for salad at the beginning and more desserts are offered.

Too Polite.

"He's pretending that he's cured of his dyspepsia in order that he shall not hurt his doctor's feelings." New Yorker.

Taxation Without Representation.

In the present railroad agitation, the old, old question of equal taxation and the right of representation in levying taxes, is squarely before us again. The cry arises from every part of the country that the railroad "baron" does not tax fairly and equally. He is charged with making the taxes low and easy for his rich favorites, the Rockefellers, the Arnolds, and their like, and he is charged with making the taxes high and hard for the farmer, the small struggling manufacturer and shippers, and all the vast unorganized mass of producers and consumers. He is charged with using his great power to practise extortion. He is charged with secretly paying back part of the taxes to his rich favorites by a device called the "rebate." Let the city of New York secretly rebate part of the taxes of its wealthy citizens and see what a commotion would arise. And yet the railroad corporation, which by virtue of its charter stands in the place of the government, is charged with committing exactly that offense. In other words, these railroad representatives of ours appointed by us as tax-collectors, do not represent us—but work for their own personal interests. Strangely like some of our political representatives! The present demand for rate legislation by the government is nothing more or less than the old demand for "taxation with representation."—From "Railroad Rebates," by Ray Stannard Baker in the December "McClure's."

Through the Suez Canal.

We were four hours going through this little tough of water. And all that time there was nothing to see but the cold, dim desert and the empty, low-hanging moon. Toward the end we sighted a watch-fire—small and lonely in the desert. There was an Arab near it wrapped and hidden in a long trailing cloak. He sat with his head on his knees and looked our way. Two camels hunched beside him slowly chewing. They swayed their long necks to star at the lights. Mournful solitary-looking beasts they were. They crouched on the desert with their knees folded under them, and we passed near enough to see them flap their scrubby little tails. But the man never moved. We watched him till he slipped out of sight.

It grew cold and the loneliness unbearable. But you could not even think of sound. There was nothing but the night and the desert and they bound you and would not let you stir.

Perhaps I slept. When I looked again we were in open water with a low sleeping town behind us. A melancholy sea with half-a-dozen feeble lights. Suez it was. A cold wind struck across it and made me shiver.—From "The Canal" by Elizabeth Washburn Wright in the December "Christians."

The Real Youth Lincoln.

A great deal of nonsense has been written about his (Lincoln's) early years, and a grave effort has been made to prove him a youth of exceptional promise, a brilliant scholar, and a prodigy of application and industry. As a matter of fact, he did not begin to develop mentally until he was about eighteen—even in the prime of life his intellectual processes were not quick—and there is nothing to indicate that he was a particularly industrious boy. Five prodigies—two in his birthplace, Kentucky, and three in Indiana—share the honor of contributing to his elementary education; but had their pupil been never so gifted, they could scarcely have discovered it, for his schooling amounted to less than a year in all—about as long as it must have taken some of the minor biographers to collect and record the pointless reminiscences of his alleged schoolmates.—From Frederick Trevor Hill's "Lincoln the Lawyer," in the December "Century."

The Kaiser's Christmas Walk.

Kaiser Wilhelm on the afternoon before Christmas invariably strolls along the roads that lead through the woods of Sans Souci Park and Potsdam to scatter pleasant surprises in the form of cherry wares and bright new coin. In the dusk and shadow of the woods his majesty is seldom recognized. Every one is very busy on Holy Eve, and as the Kaiser chooses a different road each year, no one can guess where he may appear. The gardeners and workmen about the park are generally hailed by their sovereign and enriched with shining thalers stamped with the giver's countenance. Last year one poor old woman carrying a heavy bundle of sticks was suddenly greeted with a hearty "Guckliche Feiertage!" and a five-mark piece was slipped into her hand by a strange gentleman whom she recognized only after he had briskly passed out of sight.—"Women's Home Companion" for December.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol cures indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy cures all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

A SUCCESSFUL INSTITUTE

BIG ATTENDANCE AT ALL DAY SESSIONS.

Overflow Session on Thanksgiving Day Good Instructors Who Won Their Hearers.

The Monmouth College quartette, who gave the Christmas concert on Monday evening of last week, are not only one of the best in the state, but more of them that they do not deserve it. First, Superintendent Roth did not know what he was getting or they would never have been here; second, on account of the sex of the performers, and third we can't give the space.

The College Orchestra saved the entertainment, however. This orchestra deserves all the praise that can be given them. Their selections are good. They play well, with a snap and expression that makes good music.

Tuesday, 9:30 A. M.

Institute opened by music, led by Prof. March. "Shepherds Awake," "Oh, Wonderful Day," "Soft Winds Are Singing." Prayer by Dr. J. A. Clutz of St. James Lutheran Church, Gettysburg. Prof. March conducted a 15 minute song period.

Party Control.

Was subject of address by Dr. Fess. The speaker described the danger of monarchy and anarchy. Too much liberty in the state means anarchy, and too much authority in the state means monarchy. The difference of opinion between Washington and Jefferson was discussed. He said teachers should study the states of Massachusetts and Virginia and they would find them always opposite in opinion. Virginia represents the Jeffersonian theory and Massachusetts Hamiltonian theory. It is to be noticed that the Jeffersonian theory always applies to the new states. This theory will go to the new states and will first be developed in the agricultural portions, and the other theory goes to the industrial regions. The first theory up to the Civil War covered the greater area. New York is known as the pivotal state, as she goes so goes the nation. In election contests no attention is paid to the doubtful states where there are not more than three electoral votes concerned, but the fight goes back to New York where something is at stake. New York the great state in political theory. No political organizations existed until 1793. The speaker alluded briefly to the political trouble in France and the present trouble in Russia, the Whiskey Insurrection in Pennsylvania of 1793. President Washington charged against these constitutional societies that were organized throughout the United States. The societies were party organizations, the beginning of party warfare. Dr. Fess used some maps to illustrate the growth of these political theories as described.

Music led by Prof. March, "Jesus is Leading Me Home," "Sunbeams of Glory," "Soft Winds."

Fly Speck Geography.

Was theme of Dr. Pattengill. Geography and literature go hand in hand. They develop the memory as well as the reason. Fly speck geography means teaching things to children that are of minor importance to the child, naming rivers that have no importance for drainage, commerce, or anything else. Naming and locating cities of no importance. Giving areas, heights of mountains, depth of lakes and so on. Do not make a pack horse of the memory. Use the text book of geography as a reading book. Teach geography as an outline. Judgment in work must be the reasoning power to every child. The speaker's talk was confined principally to natural work, or work from nature. Give the child examples, show their formation, how they are obtained, etc. He emphasized the fact that sufficient apparatus for demonstrating certain studies was not available for teacher and pupils. The earth is the home for the man.

Supt. Roth read an invitation from the Daughters of American Revolution to visit the old house on Steinwehr avenue. Institute adjourned with a few words to the teachers.

Tuesday, 2 P. M.

Institute opened with a musical review for 15 minutes.

Schools and the Labor Problem, I. Dr. Pattengill is taking up this subject. He said the first thing he wanted to mention to hear was that there is something more to education in the text book. What is the labor problem? Wake up the mind, point to children, aim to find the rising tide of ideas.

Class Work in Geography. By Dr. Pattengill came next. His theme ran along the line of natural geography. The speaker did not condemn the text book use whatever. They are a great help. Geography is life story and is a help to history. Can't teach geography without history nor history without geography. Have in mind constantly that earth is the home of man. Teach right what you have to teach. A good teacher will call his class by number in teaching geography. Some should go to the board and some take their slates and tablets and the best part of all is that everybody is busy. Set the classes to work, all but one, and let that one draw on the board and give instruction. The Dr. gave the teachers an outline lesson to emphasize his subject on North America. Teach the things at home, never from the "unknown to the known." This was the most instructive address that was given thus far in the course. More practical work set out that the teacher could take home with him and apply it to the schools. He did not want to hear anybody say that such work could not be applied to the district school. The Dr. said the teacher who could not apply this work was either lazy or not properly educated.

Music led by Prof. March.

The Growing Teacher

Was the subject of talk by Dr. H. C. Roop, President of the Lebanon Valley College. The teacher wants to grow and do larger things for his pupils. We become successful teachers by persistent work. We need encouragement in our work. Never let anyone discourage you in your work. We need inspiration. We teach by precept and example. Do you have a dignified conception of your position as a teacher? Every teacher is a debtor to his profession. Never forget that. Teachers who have ten talents for teaching are making but a one-talent record. Look to self-improvement. Management is what the world needs today. The hardest work for the teacher to do is the doing of too many things. There is a lack of concentration. Never forget to remember the Great Teacher. He is the purest among the pure. Let us commune with nature. We have our books and our poets. The speaker mentioned not a few of the best. The management referred to must revert to our pupils. Teachers must know their pupils better. The abnormal child can become normal. Adapt our instruction to the needs of the pupils. Get into line with the home-life. Live with the pupils. We must do more and more to create the energy of the pupils. Personality is the great underlying principle of the teacher. Be cheerful in the work.

Wednesday, 2 P. M.

Institute opened with music. "Back at the Old School House," "The March of Life," "Dream On," "The Sleighing Glee," "Shepherds Awake."

Schools and the Labor Problem II.

Dr. Pattengill resumed his talk on subject. Teach from example and precept. The five principles the Dr. mentioned in concluding his talk on Tuesday. 1. The Golden Rule. Capital and labor and individual labor must carry out their contract. So must the teacher carry out his contract. Let his or her word be as good as his bond. Imposition or underbidding in teachers' work is a bad thing. Some teachers go around and are willing to teach for a little less than stipulated by law. Those people ought not to be recognized. Everyone must have moral courage. The speaker continued to emphasize the motto, "Each for all and all for each." Do a little more than you are paid for doing. A pretty tribute was paid to school rooms of America. The teacher and parent must understand the democracy of the school room. You must teach the co-operation labor. II and III, co-operation and dignity of labor. There is just as much dignity and skill to be a good kitchen girl as it is to be behind a counter. What is more dignified than to be a practical farmer. What a comparison between the farmer and the political hanger on. Man makes the labor noble, not labor the man noble, it is the heart that counts. IV. Temperance. If the saloons were closed seven-eighths of the labor problem would be solved. Shun the saloon as you would the devil. Boys and girls should grow up in the law of temperance and kindness. Keep some memory gem before the girls and boys. V. Thrift. Teach thrift in school. Teach boys and girls to be noble and true. It is the school house that stands for the flag.

Music, "Sunbeams of Glory," "Oh, Wonderful Day."

Address of Dr. Lyte.

Dr. E. O. Lyte of Millersville State Normal School was the next speaker. The Dr. presented some extracts from the natural Association of Education, and was here in the interest of the Association which meets in San Francisco in 1906. He expected a good enrollment of teachers from Pennsylvania.

The public school is the centre for development of humanity. The public schools need industrial education. The duty of every citizen is to obey the law. The teacher should close the door on every pupil who is not vaccinated. The Dr. explained at length the compulsory and vaccination law. If you disobey the law you teach your children a disregard for the law. The speaker said the public schools were advancing and were constantly improving. He concluded by congratulating the teachers and friends of the Institute for their successful work.

Music. "Character Sketch" Jefferson. by Dr. Fess. The speaker in the first part of his subject described the home of Thomas Jefferson "Monticello." Thomas Jefferson and his boy friend Dabney Carr are buried under a large elm tree in lower part of the yard at his home. So great was the companionship of these two as boys that there was a mutual agreement in their boyhood, that they be buried side by side in this particular place. Jefferson fretted under criticism, he disliked it. Jefferson lacked the force of humor. Teachers have the sense of humor. As a disciplinarian he urged upon the teachers the elements of humor. Jefferson had an idea for the school system. He established religious freedom in the State of Virginia in 1786.

When You're Ready We've noticed that most people will not buy a suit or an overcoat until they have to. They do without as long as the weather will permit. But when buying time does come, these same men pay a good deal of attention to looks and wear and price. They are right, too. They are a class we are anxious to have for customers. In the Court news will be found an item that Menallen township will vote at Spring election whether to abolish working-out road taxes. This is under a new act passed in 1905 permitting a township to abolish working-out road taxes. The act further provides that if the road tax is paid in cash and certificate is sent to State Treasurer at end of the year, that the State will contribute toward road building in such townships fifteen per cent of the cash road taxes. Here is something for our townships to think over and the 15 cents on dollar ought to be worth going after.

IN CLOTHING

It stands to reason that we must be able to do better for you than any other store, else why would we be doing more clothing business than any other three stores put together?

And why shouldn't we be in a position to do more for you than anyone else when all the clothes we sell are made in our own factor at Baltimore and we consequently have no middle-man's profit to pay—something that every other store has to do?

The saving of this profit represents the difference between our prices and theirs—just about 25 to 30 per cent. And besides the saving, you get clothes as stylish and as satisfactory as any that can be made.

Is there any plausible reason why any man should buy his clothes outside of Davis & Co. Think it over.
